Frequently Asked Questions

Can I participate in more than one scholars program?

Yes! If you have an interest in multiple scholars programs and meet the criteria, then you may participate in more than one program, with the exception of NextGen & Women+Tech. Due to the similar structure and content within these two Scholars Programs, students are not eligible to participate in both simultaneously. Be sure to maintain balance between your academic and extracurricular activities.

How can participating in a scholars program help me prepare for my career?

Scholars programs can help you learn more about your industry, build your professional network and develop your business and leadership skills.

Can I add my Scholars Program to my resume?

Of course! Noting that you are a scholars program participant on your resume can be a great way to demonstrate to employers that you are willing to go above and beyond to grow your network and progress in your field.

Is there an additional cost to participate in the scholars programs?

No, scholars programs are available to qualifying DeVry and Keller students at no additional tuition cost.

¹Excludes any certifications DeVry already provides financial assistance for via current programs.

²Participation in the Women+Tech Scholars Program does not automatically qualify students for the Women+Tech scholarship, nor is not an eligibility requirement for the scholarship.
